Cyanna

Benedict

Qui venit

A handwritten musical score on aged paper. The first system consists of two staves. The top staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a common time signature (C). It contains a melody of half and quarter notes. The bottom staff continues the melody. The second system also has two staves. The top staff continues the melody, and the bottom staff has a more complex rhythmic pattern with many beamed sixteenth notes. The third system has two staves. The top staff continues the melody, and the bottom staff has a more complex rhythmic pattern with many beamed sixteenth notes. The fourth system has two staves. The top staff continues the melody, and the bottom staff has a more complex rhythmic pattern with many beamed sixteenth notes. The fifth system has two staves. The top staff continues the melody, and the bottom staff has a more complex rhythmic pattern with many beamed sixteenth notes.

utrumque

Four empty musical staves are located at the bottom of the page, below the handwritten text 'Cyanna utrumque'. They are arranged in two pairs, each pair consisting of a treble and a bass staff.

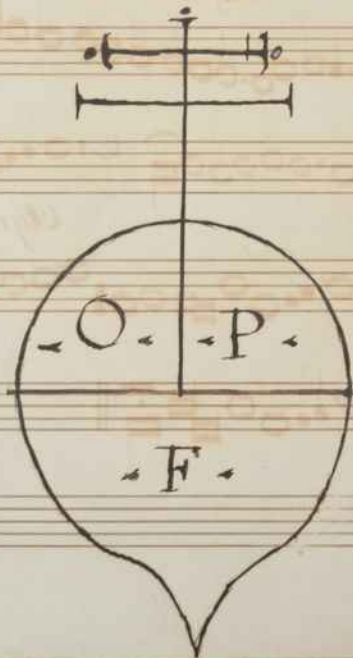

A handwritten musical score for a piece titled "Agnus dei". The score is written on seven staves. The first staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a common time signature (C). The music is written in a single melodic line. The title "Agnus dei" is written in a cursive hand below the first staff. The second staff continues the melody. The third staff begins with a double bar line and a new key signature of one flat (Bb), with the title "Agnus dei" written below it. The fourth staff continues the melody. The fifth staff begins with a double bar line and a new key signature of two flats (Bb, Eb), with the title "Agnus dei" written below it. The sixth staff continues the melody. The seventh staff concludes the piece with a double bar line. The handwriting is elegant and characteristic of 18th or 19th-century musical notation.
