Introduction

There are several 16th century editions of motets in three voices by Orlando de Lassus:

ORLANDI DE LASSO
 Illustrissimi Bavariae Ducis AL-
 BERTI Chori Magistri
 LIBER MOTETTARUM Trium vocum,
 Quae cum vivae voci tum omnis generis Instrumentis Musicis commodissime appli-cari possunt.
 Summa diligentia compositae, correctae, et nunc primum in lucem aeditae.

by Adam Berg, Munich 1575, RISM 1575b: “Book containing motets in three voices that may be easily performed by voices as well as by instruments of all kinds, meticulously composed, corrected and now published for the first time.” It contains 15 motets.

An edition from 1577 also by Adam Berg, Munich (RISM 1577d) with the same title, changed and added to: Summa diligentia compositae, correctae, auctae, nuncque denuo in lucem aeditae, “Meticulously composed corrected, enlarged and now again published,” contains the same motets and three more. The 1577 edition has been reprinted in several places, a.o. Paris.

I edited a number of pieces from these editions before, using Encore, for voices and instruments and a keyboard intabulation. They are in IMSLP and in my own website Ottaviano Petrucci, <http://home.planet.nl/~teuli049/>.

The edition by Ferdinand and Rudolph di Lasso, Magnum Opus Musicum, München 1604 (here after: MOM), reprinted them all as numbers 25 to 42, and added 6 more, numbered 43-48. The order diverged from the 1575 and 1577 editions.

Except number 43 they were not published before 1604. Nr 43, Adoramus te Christe, and another Adoramus te Christe had been published in print in Paris, 1586, by Adrian Ballard & Robert Ballard, Beatissimae virginis Mariae octo cantica modis tonorum octo quaternisque vocibus distincta, adiectis ad haec duplii Salve regina, Missa quinti toni, Veni creator, Te Deum laudamus, Adoramus te Christe, 3 et 4 voc et Tibi laus.(RISM 1586f, reprint 1597a). This title means: “Eight canticles of the Holy Virgin Mary in eight moods and four voices, added to these ... Adoramus te Christe in 3 and 4 voices and ...”. One of the three voiced pieces was not included in MOM.

I did not edit the 4 voiced piece: this edition provides all the 3 voiced pieces in MOM, not in the 1575 ad 1577 editions, but except the only piece from 1586. Because I had no access to the 1586 or 1597 editions, Adoramus te Christe (1) is missing in this edition.

This piece has been edited the first time by Peter Bergquist, The complete motets, nr. 19, Madison 2002, (A-R Editions) as nr. 33. I edited an arrangement for keyboard instrument or harp elsewhere on this site, with the permission of the editor. His number 34 in the same volume is number 43 in the MOM.

Bergquist published the numbers 44-48 in his volume The complete motets, nr. 21, Madison 2006, (A-R Editions) as numbers 1-5.

All other pieces were published before by Franz Xaver Haberl (after Carl Proske) from MOM in: Sämtliche Werke I, Regensburg 1894, numbers 25-57; Haberl gave separate numbers to the separate parts of each work, so the numbers do not agree.

Some pieces have been provided with so called high clefs or chiavette. In these cases I added a version alla quarta bassa or alla quinta bassa, a fourth or a fifth down,

I made my edition by scanning the Sämtliche Werke I by Proske -Haberl, included in IMSLP, and correcting it with Sibelius from the facsimile of the original Magnum Opus Musicum, included in IMSLP as well.

The edition by Ferdinand and Rudolph di Lasso, Magnum opus musicum, München 1604, and all previous editions do not give bar lines, and so I avoided them too. This piece had been first published in print in 1586 by Adrian Ballard & Robert Ballard, Beatissimae virginis Mariae octo cantica modis tonorum octo quaternisque vocibus distincta, adiectis ad haec duplici Salve regina, Missa quinti toni, Veni creator, Te Deum laudamus, Adoramus te Christe, 3. et 4. voc. et Tibi laus. (RISM 1586f, reprint 1597a)

In the edition by Peter Bergquist, The complete motets, nr. 19, Madison 2002, (A-R Editions) it is nr. 34. There is one more version in 3 voices of this text, not included in MOM, but only in the same prints by Le Roy & Ballard. I had no access to this print. It is nr. 33 in the mentioned edition by Bergquist. I cannot edit it here for copyright reasons. Number 32 in this edition, another piece with the same text, is in 4 voices. In the edition Proske - Haberl, Sämtliche Werke I, Regensburg 1894, MOM 43 is nr. 52.

Bergquist does not indicate the places where the texts must be added, presumably because his source gives the complete text. In other pieces he does use indicating brackets. Apparently the Tenor and Bassus parts have been switched in MOM.

Bergquist gives a flat for Cantus bar 15 note 2 (e") from the edition 1588. I give it as editorial.

Bassus 21-23: in MOM one final Longa, Bergquist (Tenor): three Breves f, with text: -bis, no-bis.

Translation:

We adore you Christ, and we praise you, because by your holy cross you have redeemed the world: Lord have mercy upon us.

The piece may be performed by voices, or instruments A T T.

The musical score consists of two staves of music. The top staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one flat, and a common time signature. The lyrics are: ne mi - se - re. The bottom staff begins with a bass clef, a key signature of one flat, and a common time signature. The lyrics are: ne mi - se - re. The music continues with the same pattern of notes and lyrics. The score is numbered 16 at the beginning of the first staff and 18 at the beginning of the second staff.

The edition by Ferdinand and Rudolph di Lasso, Magnum opus musicum, München 1604, does not give bar lines, and so I avoided them too.

It is number 1 in the edition by Peter Bergquist, The complete motets, nr. 21, Madison 2006, (A-R Editions) and nr 53. in Proske - Haberl, Sämtliche Werke I, Regensburg 1894.

Translation: We adore you Christ, and we praise you, because by your holy cross you have redeemed the world: Lord have mercy upon us.

As this original seems to be provided with high clefs I also give a transcription alla quarta bassa, a fourth down; this is the edition come stà.

The piece may be performed by voices, or instruments ATB or SSA.

The musical score consists of four systems of three staves each, representing three voices: Cantus (soprano), Tenor, and Bassus (bass). The key signature is one flat (B-flat). The time signature is common time (indicated by 'C'). The vocal parts are written in soprano, alto, and bass clefs. The lyrics are in Latin, with some words underlined for emphasis. Measure numbers 1, 4, 9, and 14 are indicated at the beginning of each system. The music features three-note chords (triads) and some sustained notes.

The edition by Ferdinand and Rudolph di Lasso, Magnum opus musicum, München 1604, does not give bar lines, and so I avoided them too.

In the edition by Peter Bergquist, The complete motets, nr. 21, Madison 2006, (A-R Editions) and nr 57. in the edition Proske - Haberl, Sämtliche Werke I, Regensburg 1894.

According to the Introduction to this edition pp. XVI and XXIII notes 8, 9, 14 and 15 Franz Körndle in "Ad te perenne gaudium", Lassos Musik zum Iudicium ultimum", in: Die Musikforschung 53 (2000) p.69 identified this piece as a setting of a motet in Stefano Tucci's musical drama Christus Judex, first performed in 1569, published in Rome, 1673 and performed in München and/or Graz in 1589.

The prophets Elijah, Enoch, and John, beheaded by the Antichrist, ascend to heaven, singing:
To you, perpetual joy and highest creator of things, we direct our course through the years, enjoying the trophies of the enemies.

The stanza consists of four lines in a four feet jambic metre.

The piece may be performed by voices, or instruments A/T TB.
