Bibliographical Note

This Dover edition, first published in 1998, is an unabridged republication of S. Rachmaninoff, Songs with Piano Accompaniment, originally published together as Volume I (36 songs) and Volume II (35 songs) by A. Gutheil (S. and N. Koussewitzky), Moscow, n.d. [1922].

The Dover edition adds: an edited list of contents, including newly added poets' names; a separate list of poets with their year dates; and a list of the seventy-one songs grouped by range. Main headings in the music, including all spelling and punctuation variations, have been retained as originally published.

We are indebted to the Sibley Music Library, Eastman School of Music, for making the original edition of these songs available for this publication; and to Robert Rimm of Chronos Studios, Philadelphia, for his kind assistance in correcting and completing our list of poets' names and dates.

Allegro appassionato.

The musical score consists of three systems of music. System 1 starts with a piano introduction in common time, key signature of B-flat major (two flats). The vocal part begins with a powerful dynamic, marked ff, followed by a melodic line. The piano part features sustained chords and rhythmic patterns. System 2 continues with the piano providing harmonic support for the vocal line, which includes lyrics in Russian and English. System 3 concludes the piece with a piano coda.
