Mendelssohn - Bartholdy
MS -

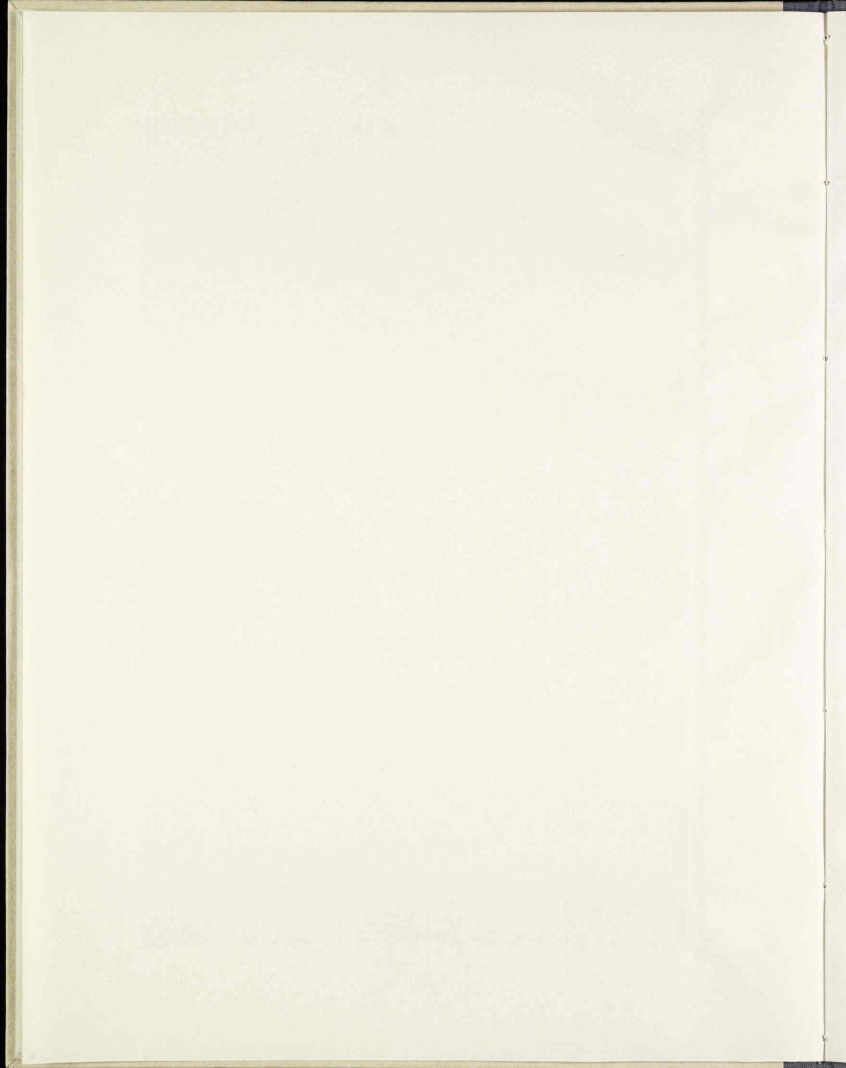

1829.

When Felix Mendelssohn was on his way to England for the first time, he was accompanied as far as Hamburg, by his Father & his sister Rebecca.
A letter for Felix (for his sister Rebecca) was addressed to Hamburg, dated [Berlin] April 15. 1829. by his sister Denny, in which she wrote "Even if you have the spleen, like poor John Bull, I know you could not help laughing when I tell you that Miss. Milder yesterday tried your Aria⁽¹⁾ with me in the back room & is enchanted with it, but that nevertheless I am to phrase it for her. Pardonless as I consider such a request, I shall yet comply with it, as your handwriting in the manuscript score shows how thoroughly well you have become of the matter ..." (Mendelssohn family, 1881. Vol. 1. 176.

Tutto è silenzio abbandonato è il loco Sacro, alle pace degli estinti, aure, tutti sono alla festa L' atroce tumulto ne rimbomba

Sin tra quest' ombra

E grave al cor mi piomba.

Adorato nemico tu tieni

Tu tieni, le tue glorie festeggi, e nelle stesse aule mio soggiorno

Da cui scacciato un giorno

E colla infame staccia d' appassionato!

E appassionato di sperto! Sperto adorato!

To che ti piango ognora

To che sospiro già da 3. lutti

Da 3 lutti o delti, e a me immondo

Allora felice sperto, lieta madre

Ed ora da' Clementi, Clementi Dei!

chi il mio cor vede se appieno

To ti chiedo un Sol baleno che rischiar il mio perdion

Senza ver' dubbio se l'ento

Senza il cor languirò in seno
