About the Composer

"Tannhauser" of Richard Wagner (1813-83) was premiered in Dresden, Germany in 1845. It was the last of three operas to be produced there during his years as Kapellmeister of the city's Opera House (Rienzi and Der Fliegende Hollander are the others). It was completed at approximately the same time as "Macbeth" (1847) and "Damnation of Faust" (1846), with Verdi still in the early stages of his career and Berlioz in the middle of his. It is the second of his operas that is regularly performed in Bayreuth at the famous "Festspielhaus", which was built to premiere the "Ring of the Nibelung" by King Ludwig of Bavaria, Wagner's most important Patron.

Wagner's three early operas were all derivative of other composers. "Die Fliegende Hollander" is the first to be written in a totally original style, although he is still quite a ways away from the total maturity of the Ring of the Nibelung. One still finds arias and traditional operatic choruses, but he is beginning to use musical motives to represent characters and emotions throughout the opera. In Tannhauser, he takes this one step further, but not without one of the finest baritone arias ever composed as well as one of the most memorable choruses in the entire operatic literature. Unfortunately, the complete overture is almost never heard in the opera house, since it was shortened to make room for the "Venusberg" music, which Wagner added for its Paris premiere in 1861. Since this is the same period when he was composing "Tristan und Isolde", the music is too attractive to pass up; the original version of the opera is now almost never produced. Fortunately, Symphony orchestras still frequently program the original overture, which is the basis for this arrangement.

Notes for this arrangement

1. Performance- These works are designed to add to the performance repertoire of the low brass choir.
2. Clef reading- These arrangements will hopefully also serve as advanced clef practice for trombonists playing the top parts. It is unfortunate that clef reading skills don't seem to be a priority for many contemporary trombone teachers, but the ability to transpose at sight remains a prerequisite for becoming an excellent professional musician. Please keep in mind that the first time one has to ask a conductor for a transposed part is likely the last time one will perform with that ensemble!
3. Scoring- There is some octave displacement to keep the individual parts within the comfortable range of the performing instruments and to establish the alto trombone as the highest voice.
4. Range- The basic range of these transcriptions is from high D to low B. For each of the three quartets, the ideal mix would be alto, .525 bore tenor, .547 bore tenor and bass trombone.
5. Breathing and Articulation- There are no breath marks in these transcriptions; that is perhaps the most personal decision a brass player ever makes. There are, however, notes left out in extended passages that would be otherwise impossible to perform well, hopefully in the most appropriate locations. Performers are also encouraged to add slurs whenever it is deemed appropriate.
